

WIFI Fight against illiteracy

FIGHT AGAINST ILLITERACY

END OF THE PROJECT

After two years, the WIFI project came to an end.

During those two years, the project consortium had the opportunity of fruitful exchange of experience, collaboration and hard work.

By the end of those two years, the project had successfully met its goals of fighting against illiteracy using innovative new approaches.

ACHIEVED GOALS

More precisely, the project succeeded to:

- Identify literacy skills that are most required in the European labour market.
- Identify work places that better suit the skills and competences of the project's target group to facilitate its integration into the European labour market.
- Design and implement four types of workshops through which the target group can better enhance its literacy skills in an interactive and engaging learning environment.

THE PROJECT'S CONSORTIUM

The project started in November 2021 and came to an end in October 2023.

It gathers 5 partners from Europe, representing the following organisations:
